WOOD GAS .- CAUTION. BE it known that I, the subscriber obtained letters patent in December, 1851, for an apparatus for the destructive distillation of wood, and the making therefrom of tar or pitch at an apparatus for the destructive distillation of wood, and the making therefrom of tar or pitch at pressure, and gas; and that in the judgment of competent persons the invention of an apparius recently patented by W. D. Porter cannot be used by him or any other person without infringing my said patent. And, further, that what is patented by said Porter rightfully belongs to me, as I expect to prove ere long before the United States Patent Office; and, further, that the use of said Porter's invention involves also a process which I am now claiming before the United States Patent Office, and which has been adjudged to be patentable to the first inventor thereof, and which said W. D. Porter has formally disclaimed, as appears upon the public records of, said office, of which an official copy is hereto annexed, and also a copy of his claims.

In the National Intelligencer of the 25th instant Mr. Porter announces that he has secured by patent the "exclusive right to making gas from wood," and threatens prosecution to all parties infringing his patent. I ask how this statement comports with the fact of my patent of December, 1851, and how far the threat can intimidate under such circumstances? Mr. Porter's claim is bused upon a movable perforated diaphragm, and was so understood by the Patent Office, as it appears from the records of the Patent Office that his claim was at first refused as interfering with a prior patent to Robert Foulis, of Canada, for an equivalent contrivance. This claim, as given below, and in which the perforated diaphragm is the saving clause, is what Mr. Porter calls securing the "exclusive right to making gas from wood." The statement carries absurdity on its front, and is a libel on the good sense of the Patent Office. WASHINGTON SEMI-WEEKLY NEWS,

Devoted to City Affairs, Education, Literature,

THE Ninth Volume of this Paper being about to be commenced, the proprietor and editor, after making his grateful acknowledgments for the steady support which he has received during the last eight years, respectfully solicits a continuance of the same and such additional support as will enable him to continue his paper, as an independent journal, and in the support of those conservative and constitutional principles which were involved in the late municipal election, and which it is his fixed purpose to maintain, so long as he is connected with this or any other public journal. On his future course the 'editor deeins it unnecessary to dilate. Suffice it to say, that while the original plan of his paper will he duly carried out, the editor will also feel himself organization that is founded on a proscriptive and exclusive basis. What he intends to do in this respect may be judged of by what he has already written and published in the columns of this journal. To his friends, and the friends of civil and
